Verbs and expressions

We considered trying a new restaurant but finally decided to go to our usual one.

Some verbs can only be followed by a gerund and some verbs can only be followed by an infinitive:

We avoided using the motorways. \checkmark

I want to go home early.

I want going home early. 🔀

We avoided to use the motorways. 🗮

There are some guidelines that might help us decide whether to use a gerund or infinitive. For example:

1. Gerunds often perform exactly the same function as a noun:

This job involves dealing with customers. This job involves contact with customers.

We delayed launching the product until January. We delayed the launch until January.

2. We often use infinitives for actions that happen after the action of the main verb:

He decided to work at the weekend. [The decision was before the work.] We expect to have the results next week. [The expectation is before obtaining the results.]

However, there are no definitive 'rules' without exceptions so we have to learn which to use.

Here are some examples:

Verbs followed by an infinitive

Verbs followed by a gerund

			1
agree	She agreed to talk to him.	admit	He admitted stealing a cake.
appear	He appears to be ill.	advise	I advise returning it.
arrange		allow	They allow parking here.
ask	They arranged to meet.	anticipate	l anticipate finishing early.
attempt	She asked to leave.	avoid	We avoided discussing it.
choose	He attempted to finish it.	consider	I'm considering not going.
claim	They chose not to wait.	delay	We delayed telling them.
decide	He claimed to be a doctor.	deny	They denied breaking it.
deserve	They decided not to wait.	discuss	We discussed replacing her.
fail	He deserves to succeed.	encourage	They encourage cycling to happen	He failed to recognise	finish	work.
hesitate	her.	imagine	We finished eating at nine.
hope	She happened to notice it.	involve	Can you imagine flying?
learn	I hesitated to tell her.	keep	The job involves travelling.
		•	l keep forgetting.
manage	Do you hope to work there?	mention	He mentioned meeting her.
mean	Is he learning to drive?	mind	Do you mind waiting?
offer	I managed not to laugh.	miss	I miss working in a team.
plan	l meant to call her.	permit	She doesn't permit swearing.
prepare	They offered to help.	recall/recollect	I recall seeing him in Paris.
pretend	I plan to talk for one	recommend	I recommend eating there.
promise	hour.	resist	Did you resist eating it?
seem	We're preparing to negotiate.	require	The problem requires tend	He pretended not to hear.	risk	investigating.
threaten	She promised not to be	suggest	She risks losing her job.
want	late.	urge	He suggested renting a car. They urged replacing him.
would like	He seemed to understand.		They urged replacing him.
	l tend to agree.
	He's threatening to leave.
	Do you want to go home?

Gerunds with 'to go'

We use the verb 'to go' + gerund to talk about some sports and leisure activities. For example:

They go swimming on Fridays.

We went sightseeing in the morning.

We never go camping in the winter.

We're going shopping this afternoon.

Shall we go skiing next year?

Expressions followed by gerunds or infinitives

He was proud to accept the award.

There are lots of expressions which use the infinitive after adjectives and nouns.

After adjectives

Subject + 'to be' + adjective + infinitive pleased to be here today.

These are often about feelings. Here are some examples:

To be... Adjective + infinitive

East
update:	en:grammar:gerunds_and_infinitives:verbs_and_expressions https://tools.e-exercises.com/doku.php?id=en:grammar:gerunds_and_infinitives:verbs_and_expressions&rev=1486134842
2023/02/14
14.21

amazed He was ama	zed to find that she remembered him.
anxious I don't want	to wait any longer - I'm anxious to begin.
ashamed He was asha	med to admit the truth.
careful He was care	ful not to mention the problem.
certain She's certai	n to succeed.
compulsory It's compuls	ory to wear protective clothing in the plant.
delighted I'm delighte	d to inform you that we are offering you the job.
determined I'm determin	ned to finish this by the end of the day.
eager He's eager t	o start his English course.
easy It isn't easy	to negotiate with people from different cultures.
eligible Are you elig	ible to vote?
happy We're happy	to accept your offer.
hesitant She was hes	itant to reply.
likely We aren't li	cely to succeed.
lucky l'm so lucky	to have this job.
possible It isn't possi	ble to park here.
proud l'm very pro	ud to announce the launch of our new vehicle.
ready Are you read	dy to leave?
reluctant I'm reluctan	t to employ someone with so little experience.
shocked He was sho	ked to discover the truth.
surprised They were s	urprised to hear the news.

Note that the same rule applies to comparative adjectives. For example:

This computer is easier to use than my old one. It's better to go out to lunch than eat at your desk.

After nouns

Expression with a noun + infinitive They were disappointed with the decision to close the factory.

Here are some examples:

	Noun + infinitive
attempt	Their attempt to expand into North America was unsuccessful.
chance	l didn't get a chance to speak to him.
decision	We were unhappy with the decision to delay production.
motivation	Motivation to succeed is essential for this job.
opportunity	We have an opportunity to make a lot of money.
permission	Can I have your permission to deal with this myself?
plan	I have a plan to reorganise the teams.
refusal	His refusal to deal with this immediately is causing problems.
tendency	He has a tendency to lose concentration.
way	We have to find a way to solve this.

Expressions with prepositions are followed by gerunds.

She's worried about travelling alone. I have fond memories of travelling in India.

Here are some more examples:

'to be' + adjective/noun + preposition + gerund

5/7

Adjectives
accustomed to	He's accustomed to working with Asian people.
addicted to	She's addicted to shopping online.
afraid of	He's afraid of failing.
capable of	We're capable of dealing with the situation without help.
committed to	They're committed to finding a solution.
excited about	Are you excited about going to Australia?
famous for	He's famous for designing lots of the buildings in this city.
guilty of	He's guilty of lying to the government.
proud of	He's proud of achieving these results.
responsible for	Who is responsible for making this mess?
worried about	I'm not worried about losing the contract.
Nouns
advantage of	My office has the advantage of being on the ground floor.
credit for	He took the credit for introducing the new measures.
dedication to	I admire his dedication to modernising the company.
delay in	I don't want any delay in investigating this problem.
fear of	He has a fear of flying.
interest in	I have no interest in competing with him.
knowledge of	His knowledge of sailing is impressive.
love of	We share a love of travelling.
memory of	I have no memory of getting home last night.
process of	We're in the process of updating the files.
reason for	I don't agree with your reason for delaying.
reputation for	They have a reputation for delivering on time.
story about	I don't believe his story about forgetting the date.

Note that 'to' in these expressions is a preposition. It is not part of an infinitive and that is why we see 'to shopping' etc.

×

'Before' and 'after'

Whether we are talking about the past, present or future, 'before' and 'after' can be followed by the gerund as an alternative to a subject and verb:

I always check the electrics before giving a presentation. ['I give']

They're committed to finding a solution.

After speaking to him yesterday, I decided to cancel the order. ['I spoke']

Before leaving this afternoon, could you call Tom for me? ['you leave']

Suggest

They're committed to find a solution.

We never use the infinitive with 'suggest' - with or without an object:

I suggest to have a presentation. 🗱 🛛 I suggest you to have a presentation. 🖊

If it is necessary to use an object in order to specify 'who' the suggestion was made to, we use 'to'.

These are the correct ways to use this verb:

+ noun or gerund	+ object + bare infinitive
I suggest a presentation. I suggest having a presentation.	I suggest (that) we have a presentation.
l suggested a presentation (to Thomas/him).	l suggest (that) you go to the presentation.
	l suggested (to Thomas/him that) we have a presentation.

From: https://tools.e-exercises.com/ - Ressources pour les apprenants Permanent link: https://tools.e-exercises.com/doku.php?id=en:grammar:gerunds_and_infinitives:verbs_and_expressions&rev=1486134842 Last update: 2023/02/14 14:21