

Irregular verbs and past participles

Irregular verbs do not follow the 'ed' rules for forming the past simple or past participle:
 <?xml:namespace prefix = "o" ns = "urn:schemas-microsoft-com:office:office" />

'walk' + 'ed' = walked [regular verb]

Some irregular verbs stay the same in all forms, others change a vowel and some change completely. Some verbs have two possible forms; the difference might be regional or a personal choice, sometimes depending on whether we are speaking or writing. It is important to choose the correct one if the choice depends on different meanings or transitive and intransitive forms. If in doubt, check in a good dictionary.

Where a verb has two meanings and one meaning has regular form, this is included in the list for comparison.

Note that the list does not include all compound verbs because they follow the same rules as the root verb. For example:
