Some prepositions can perform both functions:

'In'/'into' and 'on'/'onto'

We often use 'in' and 'on' instead of 'into' and 'onto' to indicate movement. It can depend on the verb. For example, both can be used with 'get':

We got on/onto the train.
We got in/into the car.

With 'put', we are more likely to use 'in' and 'on':

I put my keys in my bag/on the table.

With 'go', 'walk', 'step' or 'jump', we use 'into' or 'onto':

He went into the boardroom 5 minutes ago.
She stepped onto the platform.
The cat jumped onto the table.

Sometimes, they are not interchangeable but have different meanings. For example:

We cycle in the village. [We cycle when we are in the village.]
We cycle into the village. [We cycle when we go to the village from another location.]

Expressions for giving directions

We use prepositions of place and movement when giving directions. Here are some examples:

Drive past the church and take the first turning on the left. Go along this road for two miles and stop at the traffic lights. Go over the bridge and through a tunnel. Turn right when you come to a big shopping centre. Go round the roundabout and take the 3rd exit. Drive towards the town centre and park near the cathedral. Walk across the square and you'll find the tourist office on the corner next to a patisserie. I'll meet you there.

Some prepositions of place and movement also function as adverbs.
